ABOUT SANTA TERESA GALLURA

Santa Teresa di Gallura lies at the northern edge of Sardinia, facing Corsica across a narrow, wind-shaped strait. Granite headlands, deep blue water, a compact center, and ferries departing for Bonifacio define its character. Palau is just 20 minutes away, gateway to the Maddalena archipelago.

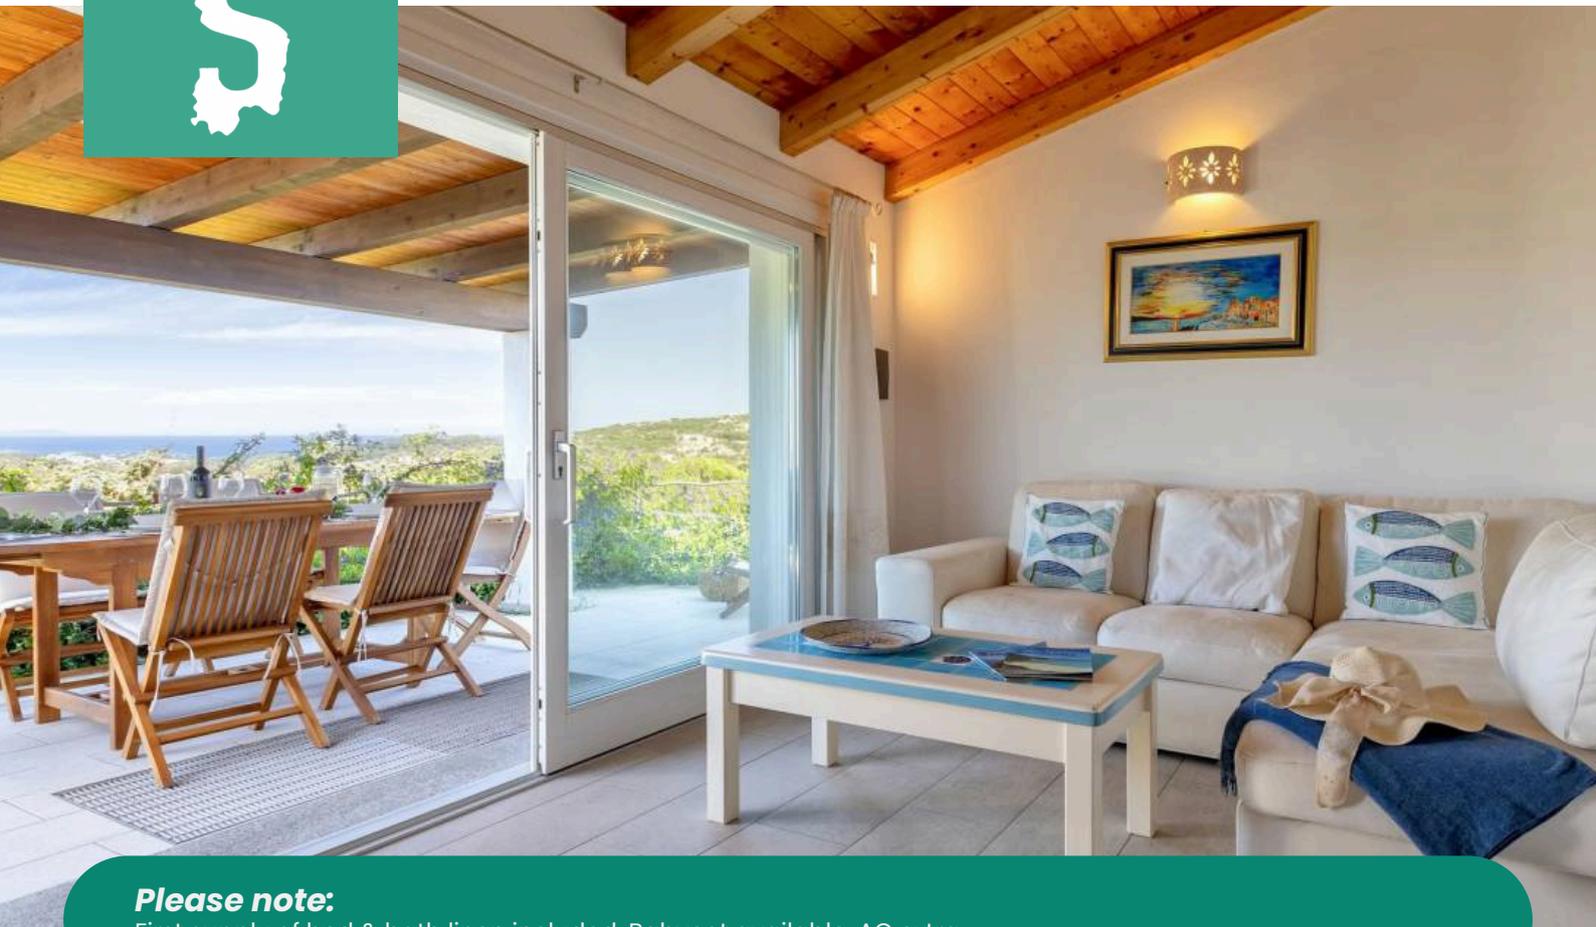

Santa Reparata is wilder and more open – a wide bay edged by granite and juniper, shaped by the mistral. Clear water, long swims, and quiet light give it a raw, unpolished feel, close to town yet immersed in wind and sea.
